Slashdot (meta-moderation)

The screenshot shows the Slashdot website interface. At the top, the logo "Slashdot" is displayed with the tagline "NEWS FOR NERDS. STUFF THAT MATTERS." Navigation links include "blackgod", "Subscribe", "Journal", "Submit Story", "Help & Account", and "Log Out". A search bar contains the text "green" and "Stories". The main content area features two news items:

- Mobile: LG Launches Watch Phone In India
Posted by ScuttleMonkey on Saturday February 27, @04:45AM from the can-you-hear-me-now-kit? dept.
roh2cool writes
"If you are a watch freak and also happen to be a fan of ultra rare (and expensive) gadgets, this might just interest you. The LG GD910 watch phone looks like a normal watch – except for the fact that it can double up as your mobile phone when needed. It is quite thin at just 13.9mm and packs in 3G and Video Calling capabilities as well. The phone is quite stylish and the front fascia is covered by scratch-proof tempered glass. It comes with a Bluetooth headset so you don't have to keep talking like David Hasselhoff talked to his super-car KITT in the "Knight Rider" series."

- Science: What Is Time? One Researcher Shares His Exploration
Posted by ScuttleMonkey on Saturday February 27, @04:01AM from the what-about-the-underverse dept.
Physicist Sean Carroll has built up a bit of a name for himself by tackling one of the age old questions that no one has been able to fully explain: What is time? Earlier this month he gave an interview with Wired where he tried to explain his theories in layman's terms.
"I'm trying to understand how time works. And that's a huge question that has

Friendster

The main content area is divided into several sections:

- Find: Search for old friends, classmates or anyone.
- Connect: View profiles, grow your network.
- Stay in Touch: Get friend updates, share photos and videos.

On the right side, there is a "Sign in" section with fields for "Email" (lrucceder@gmail.com) and "Password", a "Remember me" checkbox, a "Forgot password?" link, and a "Sign In" button. Below this is a link for "New to Friendster? Sign Up Now!".

The "Photos" section has tabs for "Latest", "Featured Photos", "Most Grabbed", and "Most Discussed". It displays four photo thumbnails with captions: "Serena" (Posted 12/20/06), "Ignacio" (Posted 12/20/06), "Rachel" (Posted 12/20/06), and "Elizabeth" (Posted 12/20/06). A "More Latest Photos" link is at the bottom right of this section.

The "People" section has tabs for "New Members" and "Popular". It shows a row of profile picture thumbnails.

The weird world of Facebook's moral code: beheadings good, breastfeedings bad

TECHNOLOGY / 22 OCTOBER 13 / by LIAT CLARK

Facebook's decision to lift its ban on some of the most extreme graphic content posted to its network is the latest in a long line of incongruous rules that have come out of its vague terms of service.

In May 2013 Facebook had bowed to pressure to take down graphic violent content. However, as flagged up by the BBC, a video depicting a man decapitating a woman in Mexico has reemerged on the site. It's paved the way for a string of complaints and criticism, including a tweet today from David Cameron, which read: "It's irresponsible of Facebook to post beheading videos, especially without a warning. They must explain their actions to worried parents."

Facebook told Wired.co.uk today that a warning has since been published on the site before the aforementioned video plays (Wired.co.uk does not wish to watch a beheading in order to verify this, so will take Facebook's word for it).

But what if you want everyone?

Then you need “federation”:

A group of servers/nodes

WITH EQUAL POWER

who agree to pass on and distribute messages.

with centralized rules, but no central authority

Mastodon

The screenshot displays the Mastodon web interface with a dark theme. It is divided into four main sections:

- Search: A search bar with the text "Gargron" and a magnifying glass icon. Below it, a profile card for "Gargron" shows a profile picture, the name "Gargron", and links for "Settings", "Public timeline", and "Logout". A text input field contains "What is on your mind?". Below the input is a character count "500" and a blue "TOOT" button. At the bottom of the search section are two toggle switches: "Mark as private" (checked) and "Do not display in public timeline" (unchecked).
- Home: A vertical list of posts. The top post is from "@soft_chomps" 38 seconds ago, saying "@Gargron oh wonderful". The second post is from "F!rian @theoutrider" 1 minute ago, discussing a German New Year's Eve tradition. Below it is a "Ashoka boosted" notice. The third post is from "F!rian @theoutrider" 2 minutes ago, continuing the discussion about German TV skits. Below it is another "Ashoka boosted" notice. The fourth post is from "Pete @peemee" 1 minute ago, saying "So this is 2017. Yawn. No different. Goodnight!". The bottom post is from "@hoodie" 3 minutes ago, praising art by @RockinRobin.
- Notifications: A vertical list of notification items. The top one is from "@soft_chomps" 38 seconds ago, saying "@Gargron oh wonderful". Below it are three notifications from "Eugen @Gargron" 11 minutes ago, each stating "Smol #Mastodon bugfix: self-replies that ultimately lead to a non-self post now behave like replies to that non-self post". The bottom notification is from "@hoodie" 11 minutes ago, saying "@Gargron thank you so much for this!".
- Getting started: A sidebar on the right with a hamburger menu icon. It contains a "Public timeline" link, a "Settings" link, and a paragraph of text: "You can follow people if you know their username and the domain they are on by entering an e-mail-esque address into the search form. If the target user is on the same domain as you, just the username will work. The same rule applies to mentioning people in statuses. The developer of this project can be followed as Gargron@mastodon.social". At the bottom of this sidebar is a cartoon illustration of a mammoth holding a paper airplane.
