Slashdot (meta-moderation)

The screenshot shows the Slashdot website interface. At the top, the logo "Slashdot" is displayed with the tagline "NEWS FOR NERDS. STUFF THAT MATTERS." Navigation links include "blackgod", "Subscribe", "Journal", "Submit Story", "Help & Account", and "Log Out". A search bar contains the text "green" and "Stories". The main content area features two articles. The first article, titled "Mobile: LG Launches Watch Phone In India", is posted by "ScuttleMonkey" on Saturday February 27, @04:45AM from the "can-you-hear-me-now-kit? dept." The article text, written by "roh2cool", describes the LG GD910 watch phone as a thin, 3G-capable device with video calling and a scratch-proof glass front. A small image of the watch phone is shown. The second article, titled "Science: What Is Time? One Researcher Shares His Exploration", is also posted by "ScuttleMonkey" on Saturday February 27, @04:01AM from the "what-about-the-underverse dept." The article text, written by "Physicist Sean Carroll", discusses his work on time. A small image of Sean Carroll is shown. The right sidebar contains a "Disable Advertising" notice, a user profile for "blackgod (1616805)" with a "Karma: Neutral" status, and an "Idle Video" section with several video thumbnails and titles.

Mobile: LG Launches Watch Phone In India

Posted by ScuttleMonkey on Saturday February 27, @04:45AM from the can-you-hear-me-now-kit? dept.

roh2cool writes

"If you are a watch freak and also happen to be a fan of ultra rare (and expensive) gadgets, this might just interest you. The LG GD910 watch phone looks like a normal watch – except for the fact that it can double up as your mobile phone when needed. It is quite thin at just 13.9mm and packs in 3G and Video Calling capabilities as well. The phone is quite stylish and the front fascia is covered by scratch-proof tempered glass. It comes with a Bluetooth headset so you don't have to keep talking like David Hasselhoff talked to his super-car KITT in the "Knight Rider" series."

Science: What Is Time? One Researcher Shares His Exploration

Posted by ScuttleMonkey on Saturday February 27, @04:01AM from the what-about-the-underverse dept.

Physicist Sean Carroll has built up a bit of a name for himself by tackling one of the age old questions that no one has been able to fully explain: What is time? Earlier this month he gave an interview with Wired where he tried to explain his theories in layman's terms.

"I'm trying to understand how time works. And that's a huge question that has

Friendster

The screenshot shows the Friendster website interface. At the top left is the Friendster logo, a smiley face followed by the word "friendster.". To the right of the logo is a search bar with a dropdown menu set to "Name" and a search button. Above the search bar are links for "What's New", "Messages", "Settings", "Help", and "Log In". Below the search bar is a navigation bar with links for "Home", "Profile", "Friends", "Search", "Video", "Blogs", and "Invite".

The main content area is divided into several sections:

- Find: Search for old friends, classmates or anyone. (Icon: magnifying glass)
- Connect: View profiles, grow your network. (Icon: two people)
- Stay in Touch: Get friend updates, share photos and videos. (Icon: calendar)

On the right side, there is a "Sign in" section with input fields for "Email:" (containing "bruceder@gmail.com") and "Password:". Below these are checkboxes for "Remember me", a link for "Forgot password?", and a "Sign In" button. Below the sign-in section is a link: "New to Friendster? Sign Up Now!".

- Serena: Posted 12/20/06
- Ignacio: Posted 12/20/06
- Rachel: Posted 12/20/06
- Elizabeth: Posted 12/20/06

Below the photos is a link: "More Latest Photos >".

Below the photos is a "People" section with tabs for "New Members" and "Popular".

Blackplanet

The screenshot shows the BlackPlanet.com website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the site logo and the tagline "THE WORLD IS YOURS". Below the navigation bar, there is a search bar and a "Find a Member" button. The main content area is divided into several sections:

- BlackPlanetJobs: A banner for "SNR Denton" with the text "60,000 Plus Diversity Jobs Available" and an "Apply Today" button.
- Members Near New York, NY: A section showing "4,100 Members Online" and "0 Friends Online". It features a grid of member profile pictures with names like "Whatchaboo...", "nki1012006", "Native_Rose", and "Estatee".
- What's New on BP?: A section with tabs for "Everyone", "Friends", "Near Me", and "Gamers". It includes a "What's New With You?" input field and a "Share" button. Below it is a post by "Sexi_Smart_Successfu" with the text "Another way in meeting new ppl since I don't get out much" and a timestamp of "2 mins ago".
- NET-A-PORTER.COM: A promotional banner for luxury fashion brands including Marc Jacobs, Valentino, Maison Martin Margiela, Acne, Givenchy, Isabel Marant, Donna Karan, Erdem, Oscar de la Renta, Emilio Pucci, Michael Kors, Missoni, and 3.1 Phillip Lim.
- Jobs Powered by THORNTON: A section listing job opportunities with "Apply" buttons. The jobs include:
 - Moody's Investors Service: Technology Trainer (Education, Training, and Library; NY - New York City)
 - AllianceBernstein: Global Analytics Operations Analyst (Information Technology; NY - New York City)
 - AllianceBernstein: Senior Developer, Java or VB.net & SQL (Information Technology; NY - New York City)

At the bottom of the page, there is a "Member of the Day" section with a "AppAppeal" watermark.

The article's title is "The weird world of Facebook's moral code: beheadings good, breastfeedings bad". The author is LIAT CLARK, and the article is dated 22 OCTOBER 13. The article text discusses Facebook's decision to lift its ban on some extreme graphic content, mentioning a video of a man decapitating a woman in Mexico and a tweet from David Cameron. An image of the Facebook logo is shown on the right side of the article. The browser's taskbar at the bottom shows several open applications, including LibreOffice Impress, Mozilla Thunderbird, and Zotero. The system tray shows the date and time as Tue Nov 05, 11:39.

The weird world of Facebook's moral code: beheadings good, breastfeedings bad

TECHNOLOGY / 22 OCTOBER 13 / by LIAT CLARK

Facebook's decision to lift its ban on some of the most extreme graphic content posted to its network is the latest in a long line of incongruous rules that have come out of its vague terms of service.

In May 2013 Facebook had bowed to pressure to take down graphic violent content. However, as flagged up by the BBC, a video depicting a man decapitating a woman in Mexico has reemerged on the site. It's paved the way for a string of complaints and criticism, including a tweet today from David Cameron, which read: "It's irresponsible of Facebook to post beheading videos, especially without a warning. They must explain their actions to worried parents."

Facebook told Wired.co.uk today that a warning has since been published on the site before the aforementioned video plays (Wired.co.uk does not wish to watch a beheading in order to verify this, so will take Facebook's word for it).

On the right, there are icons for list view, grid view, and navigation arrows. The main content area is titled "All items" and "sorted by oldest". It displays a list of news items with columns for source, title, and time. The left sidebar contains navigation options like "Home", "Starred items", "Trends", "Browse for stuff", "Explore", "Subscriptions", and "Recommended sources".
